U.S. Patent and Trademark Office PTOL-326 (Rev. 7-05) Art Unit: 2667

DETAILED ACTION

Specification

In the Amendment filed on 06/09/2005, Applicant request to insert "2.0 Description of the Related Art" on page 1, after line 5 which ends with "obtaining connection." and before line 6 which begins with "Such a method…" of the specification. However, Examiner could not found the statements on page 1, line 5 and 6.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims 3 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being unpatentable by Forrest, US Patent No. 6,084,875.

Regarding claims 3 and 9, in FIG. 2 Forrest disclose a "Traffic Route Control" functionality for Internet Service Providers (ISPs) 260, is implemented by a local service provider (SSP-A) 210 to identify specific routes 270 and assign them to individual ISPs 260. Initially, as indicated in FIG. 3, an Internet user 200 dials the access number for a specific 260 (step 300). This call is then triggered as an AIN call (step 305), which is routed from an end office 210, e.g., a Service Switching Point (SSP) for a wire line Internet user, serving the Internet user 200 to a Service Control Point (SCP) 240 (step 310) via a Signaling Transfer Point (STP) 230. The SCP 240 then analyzes the calling number and the called (ISP) number (step 315), compares them with a list of calling numbers, ISP numbers, and associated trunk lines (step 320), which is stored in a database 250, and identifies the dedicated ISP trunk line(s) 270 (step 325), which will be used to route the call to the appropriate ISP 260. Finally, a call connection is established between the Internet user 200 and the ISP 260 (step 350). See fig. 1-3, col. 2, lines 8-32, and col. 4, lines 21-55.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 4 and 10 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims. Claims 5-8 and claims 2, 11-13 are also objected too because they depend on objected claims 4 and 10 respectively.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 06/09/2005, with respect to claims 3 and 9, have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Page 12 of the remarks, Applicant argues "the Forrest patent does not disclose that a calling point of an ISP is comprised by a traffic telephone exchange (vkc)". According to the specification, page 1, lines 5-9, the calling points are defined:

"Access to the Internet is provided by so-called Inter- net Service Providers, indicated herein below as ISP. On strategically chosen locations, they have so-called calling points to which their clients, i.e. the Internet users, can call for gaining access to the Internet."

It indicates that the ISPs associate with calling points to allow users access to the Internet. Forrest discloses "Many local service providers (SSPs) provide local access to Internet Service Providers (ISPs)", col. 2, lines 58-59 and 64-66. Thus, the SSPs in the system disclosed by Forrest perform as "calling points" that are recited in the claims and specification.

Applicant's arguments, see remarks page 14, filed 06/09/2005, with respect to claims 4 and 10 have been fully considered and are persuasive. The rejections of claims 4 and 10 have been withdrawn and they are objected as shown above.
